Three Prison Officials Dismissed on Demand of the British Am-bassador are Reinstated by the Sultan.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTA LONDON, Nov. 15.—(By Atlantic Ca-ble.) A Times dispatch from Erzeroum says that a letter nearly four columns in length, dated November 13, fully confirms the accounts previously published concerning the massacre there. The writer says it is impossible yet to ascertain the number of killed. Some persons assert it will reach fully two thousand. Perhaps one thousand is not far from the total.

The writer continued: "We have no The writer continued: 'We have not dared to go to the quarters of the city where the Turks are aumerous.' I have not the opportunity of investigating more than a tenth of the cases, though I have yet to hear of a single dead Turk in this struggle. This, I think, disproves the charges of aggression brought up against the Armenians. The bare facts are that it was purely a massacre of the innocent inhabitants by the enraged Turks, and but for the presence of foreign consuls things would have been worse. With the coming of winter the misery n store for the remaining Armenians will be terrible."

The correspondent quoted, who is staying at the American mission, says he heard testimony in various quarters that the government ordered the massacres, which were to be executed according to previous orders.

This measure is regarded as a cruel one, even admitting that they reach their destination.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15. — (By Atlantic Cable.) It is announced that three prison officials of Moosh, dismissed some time ago upon demand of the British Ambasador, owing to the maltreatment of prisoners, have been reinstated. The British Charge d'Affaires, Hon. Michael Herbert, has demanded of the Porte that the three prison officials be again dismissed.

Rioting at Sivas was attended by great bloodshed, but order has been partially restored and Turkish officials are protecting the foreigners there. No change in the situation is anticipated for some days. Reports of a conflict between the Albanian regiment and the Tripoli regiment at Yildiz Klosk have not been confirmed, although it is well known that there has been bad blood between the guards at the Palace ever since the Tripoli regiment furnished sentries instead of the Albanians, As a result, notes are being left with different palace officials saying their lives are in danger.

OLNEY AND THE MISSIONARIES. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Rev. Consequently the proper protection of our citizens in Turkey resolved itself into a question of good faith and ability on the part of the Porte to make its promises good. It was agreed that with the various European powers concentrating their naval forces at Constantinople there was no necessity of additional American ships in Turkish waters at the present time. The Secretary made it quite clear, however, that while the United States government will do all in its power to protect Americans in Turkey, it would not interfer in the settlement of the general questions in dispute, and would leave these matters to Turkey and the combined powers of Europe to settle among themselves. The representatives of the missionaries expressed themselves as entirely satisfied with the course of the government in the matter.

RUSSIA'S COINAGE.

he Will Have to Get Her Silver from Other Countries. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 .- The Ass WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Asso-ciated Press cablegram of yesterday announcing the intention of the Rus-sian government to coin next year 100,000,000 roubles in gold and 25,000,000 in silver, in addition to the subsidiary coinage, has created considerable in-terest among financiers, because of the evident purpose exhibited on the part of Russia in increasing her specie cur-rency.

evident purpose exhibited on the part of Russia in increasing her specie currency."

While Russia holds in coin and bullion between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 of gold, she has recently coined very little of this, the total for the past four years being $7,207,614. For the same period her silver coinage amounted to $10,628,442. In 1894 the gold coinage amounted to $2,252,523, and silver to $2,155,822. Reducing the figures for 1896 to American money, it is now proposed to coin $77,000,000 in gold and $19,250,000 in silver, in addition to the small coins.

It is thought in some quarters that the general purpose of this increase is to begin preparation for the redemption of the Russian paper, which is the principal currency in circulation in the Empire. Last August the imperial bank held $829,900,000 in paper. It is also considered probable that in increasing her silver coinage as she is doing, Russia is preparing to extend her trade into the silver-using countries of the Orient, especially China, Japan and Korea. To put this purpose into execution it will be necessary for Russia to go outside of her own country to secure silver. Russia mines annually produce less than $500,000 worth of the white metal, and as her law prohibits the importation of foreign coins, it is probable that the stock in the country has not increased since 1892, when it was only a little over $4,000,000.

Residences of several wealthy resilents of the South Side have been bur glarized by a gang which, it is alleged, was headed by Clarence White, brother of the murdered man, and well-knows to the police. The agency had a mar watching the residence of Mrs. White, mother of Frank and Clarence White and yesterday evening received word that the latter had come to the house, apparently to pay a visit. Five operatives were at once sent over. The spy announced that two men had driven away from the house in a buggy. The detectives followed and met the buggy away from the house in a buggy. The detectives followed and met the buggy at the corner of Polk and Lafin streets. Dix, who claims to be intimately acquainted with Clarence White, says he recognized him as one of the men in the buggy. He jumped to the bridle of the horse and called on White to surrender. The agency people assert that one of the men in the buggy fired a shot. Dix returned it and the other man in the buggy began shooting. Dix then dropped the bridle and the buggy was driven rapidly away.

Some time later a man residing on Hoyne avenue drove to West Twenty-third-street station in a buggy containing a corpse. The man was later identified as Frank White. There were several bullet holes in the box of the buggy and in the bottom were five bullets of large caliber. The man who drove the buggy to the station said he saw the horse running on Polk street, and thinking it was a runaway stopped it and climbed into the buggy. He then found the corpse. Clarence White evidently left the carriage as soon as he succeeded in driving away from the private detectives. The case promises

Nov. 15.—Senator William Allen, Nebraska's senior Representative in the United States Senate and the recognized leader of the Populists in both houses of Congress, has been in Omaha for two days, previous to going to Washington to be in attendance at the reconvening of the national Legislature.

WASHINGTON (D. C.,) Nov. 8,cial Correspondence.) The recent elec-tions created much less excitement than would naturally have been ex-Anti-administration Demo crats say that it was to be looked for. popularity. Administration Democrats say that in each State it was an upris-ing of the people against the opponents of President Cleveland, and a rebuke of President Cleveland, and a reduke to Hill, Gorman, Bruce and Blackburn, while the Republicans prophesied the result so loudly that they can now add nothing new, and content themeelves with an "I-told-you-so" smile. Presidential chances, and each successful candidate will be boomed for a few days, at least, as good material to occupy the White House.

The principal interest, however, centers upon the organization of the next House. There are so many potential factors in times gone by that are gone, and so many new and unknown men, that it is difficult to guess what will be done. A caucus of Republican Congressmen has been called for November 30, to nominate officers, and the fight will be an interesting one. At this time excongressman Thomas J. Henderson of Illinois has the lead for clerk, although ex-Congressman McDowgel is making a strong fight. W. J. Glenn of New York is in the lead for doorkeeper. As to the committee organization, no one knows anything about it, except Mr. Reed, and he, naturally, would not tell. The chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee, however, will go to either Dingley or Daizell.

It will seem strange to hold a session of Congress without Judge Holman, "the watch-dog of the treasury;" "Buck". Kilgore, or William. M. Springer, "the jumping-Jack." "Who will do the objecting?" Is the question often asked.

Among the debaters, Messrs. Bland of Missouri, Breckinridge of Kentucky, Wilson of West Virginia and Bryan of Nebraska will be greatly injessed.

Among the deckinridge of Kentucky Wilson of West Virginia and Bryan o Nebraska will be greatly missed. IRRIGATION MATTERS.

IRIGATION MATTERS.

The Board of Irrigation, executive department, held a meeting, and after the election of Judge E. T. Best and Willis L. Moore to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of Mr. Bower and Prof. Harrington, respectively, reports were made and the board adjourned to meet November 20, when legislation obnerning the reclamation of arid lands will be recommended. This board, created last March, has as yet done nothing but preliminary work. It will, however, now take active steps to enforce what laws exist concerning irrigation, and obtain the enactment of whatever new laws may be deemed desirable. It is certain that the subject of irrigation will receive very much more attention by the present Congress than ever before, whether or not the plan to make appropriations for that purpose under the head of rivers and harbors, in States where there are no public lands, meets with favor.

CIVIL-SERVICE JOKER.

There is no doubt that the adminis tration intends to widen the civil-serv tration intends to white the civisery deer ules as much as possible and make future appointments under them; but a prominent Republican predicted today that there was a deep-laid scheme behind this. He says that an opinion of the Attorney-General has been secured, that, when officials are placed under civil-service rules after appointcured, that, when officials are placed under civil-service rules after appointment the rules apply but this will not be relied upon, for fear of reversal. The present office-holders will be required to pass an examination, which will not be severe, as no changes are desired, and they will then receive new commissions under civil-service rules, which will compel the Republicans to either restrict the civil service or find the appointing power very limited. While the story lacks substantiation, it could be done, and there is undoubtedly an active effort being made to extend civil service to its utmost limit.

PRINCE ITURBIDE CHALLENGED Prince Iturbide of Mexico, a grandson of Emperor Iturbide, and Robert Neville, a well-known Washington clubman, have become suddenly very prominent, owing to Neville casting doubt upon some sustements of the Prince, and the latter calling Neville a llar. A challenge and acceptance passed, followed by the usual reconciliation and dinner. The matter has now been referred to the grand jury, as the law is plain that the sending and acceptance of a challenge are each a penitentiary offense. Judge J. H. Hawley of Boise City, Idaho, was the first prominent silver man from the West to reach Washington this week. He said that he had lost hope of the Democratic party placing a free-silver plank in the platform, but the State of Idaho would do its utmost to fight for it. Concerning the re-election of Senator Dubois, he was very confident that the strong free-silver advokate would be retained, not with the strong free-silver advokate would be retained, not with the strong free-silver advokate would be retained, not with the strong free-silver advokate would be retained, not with the strong free-silver advokate wool growers. He stated that the business had been conducted at a loss since the present tariff went into effect, on account of the competition of Australia and South America. Many millions of dolfars are invested in sheep in the West, and this vast sum will be lost unless relief is given.

A WOMAN WHO KEPT A SECRET,

A WOMAN WHO KEPT A SECRET, A WOMAN WHO KEPT A SECRET,
A remarkable story has developed here that in some of its features stands alone as a tale of romance. Thirteen years ago Miss Margaret Hislop was deceived by a false lover in Wisconsin. A daughter was born and the mother went to the Pacific Coast, staying for a year or two in Los Angeles, then for a few months in Portland, returning to Washington. She left her child, a daughter, with friends in Wisconsin who she knew would not betray her secret.

Miss Hislop studied dentistry and opened an office, her brother occupying the same office as a physician. She joined the Central Presbyterian Church and has led an exemplary life, being the same office as a physician. She joined the Central Presbyterian Church and has led an exemplary life, being widely known for acts of charity. She was very successful in her profession, and after twelve years her mother heart so yearned for the daughter in Wisconsin that the child was sent for. Miss Gertrude, who supposed that she was an orphan, was told that Miss Hislop had been appointed her guardian. The girl grew up into a beautiful young lady and had many admirers. Of these she chose J. K. White, a government clerk and a member of the same church that she attended. Miss Hislop and her brother opposed the match so strongly that the lover secured a warrant charking the brother with threatening his life. The doctor was arrested and young White demanded the girl. She was allowed to go and that night the couple were married at the house of a friend. The next morning the trial of Dr. Hislop came up, and on the stand Miss Hislop was asked how she became the young lady's guardian.

"I am her mother," said the witness in a low voice.

Sharon trust expired by limitation today, and the heirs of the late William Sharon will now come into possession of their shares of the big estate.

Under the will of the late William Sharon, a trust was created to last ten years, at the expiration of which the heirs were to divide the property as follows: One-third to Frederick W.
Sharon, one-third to Lady Hesketh (nee Sharon.) one-twelfth to Francis G.
Newlands and one-twelfth to each of Newlands's three children, Edith Marion, Janet and Frances Clara. Under the trust the entire property of the dead millionaire in California, Nevada, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois and Washington, D. C., was conveyed to Frederick W. Sharon and Francis G. Newlands in trust for the heirs.

Some years ago Frederick Sharon resigned as trustee and F. G. Newlands has since been the sole trustee of the vast properties. If no other action had been taken there would now be a parritition of the real estate, and doubtless a sale of a considerable portion of it.
But the heirs have long since provided against this, and the immense estate will be managed in the future just as it has been under the trust, with the slight difference that Francis G. Newlands will no longer exercise a trustee's authority over the property.

Her brother is the present Grand Duke of Hesse; her sister Irene is the wife of Prince Henry of Prussia; another sister, Princess Elizabeth, is the wife of Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, and her oldest sister is the wife of Prince Louis of Battenberg.

When Princess Alix was but 12 years old, and while in attendance at the wedding of her sister Elizabeth, she met Nicholas, then Grand Duke, who was in his sixteenth year. The children became attached to each other, but the Carrowitch's affections for the Princess were diverted for sometime. Six years later her father made a visit to the Russian court, accompanied by Princess Alix, and her presence in the Russian capital was the means of renewing their liking for each other, but the Princess was then an ardent Lutheran, and the question of having to become a member of the orthodox church had to be considered. Owing to the ill-health and subsequent death of the Czar, Alexander III, the marriage of Princess Alix and Nicholas was hastened. Concessions, such as never before had been secured, in embracing the orthodox faith, were obtained from the Holy Synod. The Princess was not required to declare her former religion to be accursed, nor that her conversion was due to the conviction that the truth lies not with the rown, but with the Russian church. The Holy Synod was satisfied with the simple declaration that the Princess joined the Greek church in order to be of the same religion as her husband.

PRESBYTERIANS.

New York City and Speaks of the Good Done by the Church—Ex-Secretary Foster's Views.

GULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Carnegie Music Hall was filled tonight with a great crowd of Presbyterians interested in foreign missions. The platform was occupied principally by ministers. The announcement that ex-President Harri-son was to preside proved a great at-traction. When the ex-President arrived he was heartily applauded. Hon. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, was also on the platform. Rev. John R. Davis acted as chairman, and irtro duced ex-President Harrison as a "great and good man."

Gen. Harrison began his speech by saying that the Presbyterian church had been greatly celebrated for its power of resistance. It had stood fast for love and illustry it had stood fast for love and liberty; it had stood fast for education; it had been in the United States the ploneer of education; it had stood for the highest scholarship, and it had stood against that pseudo-altitudinous philosophy that, from the study of God's word, finds there is no God, and from the study of His word

"It has been strenuous in its oppos faith delivered by the fathers, and it still stands for the essential doctrine of the inspired word. It is not an illiterate church. No body of Christians in the world opens the arms wider or more lovingly to all who love the Master. It is catholic in its co-operation with the churches. The missionary spirit is inherent in Christianity, and we meet here tonight in this meeting, which culminates our efforts to take counsel as Presbyterians, as to how we can advance the cause of foreign missions. "I have sometimes, in missionary meetings, heard speakers talk about the needs of the board. That seems to me very much like the man whose grecery bills are not paid, and who will talk about the needs of his butler. We are not here to talk about needs of the board, but our needs, the needs of the church. We are here to summon you to the duties which your church membership implies, and which implies much more when you consider the great head of the church. I think I may say to faith delivered by the fathers, and it the duties which your church membership implies, and which implies much more when you consider the great head of the church. I think I may say to you, 'Hold fast the good doctrines, not the shepherd.'"

The next speaker was the Hon. John W. Foster. His address was a summary of his observations on the work of the Protestant missions in Asla, first in a tour of the world made two years ago, and in a second visit to Japan and China in connection with the peace negotiations of the present year. The review embraced the work of the missionaries in Syria, India, Burmah, the Holy Land and Egypt, in the Turkish Empire, Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, China, Korea and Japan, and it also discussed the three great non-Christian religions, Mohammedanism, Hindooism and Buddhism.

India he styled the citadel of Brahminism, a perfectly-organized system pregnable to the attacks of Christianity. A first glance created the impression that the missions were making little progress against it, but a more careful examination showed that all the great moral and social reforms were the direct result of the introduction of the gospel, notably the prohibition of human sacrifice and torture in the religious rites, the burning of widows, the killing of female children, reforms as to child marriage, the establishment of schools and colleges, the zeal created for educt tion, and the awakened interests of the Brahmins for a purification and reform in the religion.

After a passing allusion to Brahma boards, as it was a most hopeful field and called for the earnest support of the churches.

Ex-Secretary Foster said the work in Korea had been retarded by the late war, but even this impediment would doubtless result in enlarged opportunities for the missions. He gave considerable attention to the mission field in Japan, praising the country for its beauty, the people for their polite and cleanly habits, the government for its progressive ideas. But the latter he criticised for accepting so readily the results of western civilization and failing to encourage the great cause of it, the Christian religion. Considerable progress was being made by the missionaries, notwithstanding the recently developed spirit of excessive patriotism, which sought to revive the old religions, and among the converts to create an independent Japanese Christianity. The mission schools were doing a good work, and in this country more probably than in any other in Asia the intellectual and ruling classes had been reached.

Rev. F. B. Clark, D.D., president of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, spoke of missionary work in general and the limitiess needs of the heathen world, and paid a glowing tribute to the men and women who are devoting their lives to mission work.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

A special to the Cincinnati Enquirer from Augusta, Ky., says that sensational reports were sent out from that city yesterday about the Augusta College building burning and that four handred pupils narrowly escaped. The facts are that a chimney caught fire and caused excitement about the town, but no one was hurt and the building was not damaged. School resumed after a recess of some excitement and short duration.

It was decided by the Supreme Court that the heirs of Jay Gould must pay taxes on $10,000,000 of personal property, the valuation on which the tax commissioners based their assessment. George J. Gould and the other executors of the estate contested the assessment, claiming that the assessment was made January 3, 1893, and that they did not have the property in their possession at that time, as the will was not probated until two days afterward.

A Toronto dispatch says that the cross-examination of E., Wi. Aylesworth was continued at yesterday morning's session of the Hyams trial. The defense has somewhat weakened the evidence he gave on Thursday, by which Hyams promised Wells $2500 at the end of five years, provided he would allow $30,000 to be placed on his life. Witness was compelled to admit that while he had heard on indisputable evidence that such an agreement did exist, he was not present when it was made. All efforts on the part of the prisoner's counsel to make Aylesworth, recede from his statement relative to the small volume of business done by Hyams was unavailing.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—Ivan Kov alev, rioter, thief and murderer, stand ing in the shadow of the gallows, and manacled with a chain of proof not one link of which is imperfect or broken, has confessed that he and his associate in crime, Matthleusky Tscherbakof boldly struck down and murdered Mr and Mrs. F. H. L. Weber in this city last December. Such is the sensational story which the Evening Bee published today.

that his statement would be believed; that Tscherbakoff wielded the ax, and that he would escape punishment himself. When Judge Johnson was told of the statement, he said he could do nothing in the matter except to have the trial proceed and to keep the fact of the confession from the jury. The District Attorney was of the same mind. For two hours this forenoon, Ivan Kovalev, murderer of Weber, was closeted with Anderson and Hart, his attorneys, and Olga Gordenko, a Ruesian woman from Sonoma county, who has taken great interest in the defendant's case, because she and the prisoner are Nihilists. Kovalev acknowledged to the woman that he was guilty of the charges against him, but he declined to give her the details of the tragedy, other than those which he had already given to his attorneys.

When the court opened, shortly before noon, Maj. Anderson, of the counsel for the defense, arose and said he had noticed on a bulletin board in front of a newspaper office, an assertion to the effect that Kovalev had made a confession. This, he said, was not true. Senator Hart, the other attorney for the defense; Dist. Atty. Ryan and Superior Judge Johnson also said no confession had been made to them, and Judge Johnson said he could not have the defense: Dist.Atty. Ryan and Superior Judge Johnson also said no confession had been made to them, and Judge Johnson said he could not have had anything to do with such a matter. The Evening Bee, which publishes the story of the confession, reiterates that confession, and declares that neither Senator Hart nor Maj. Anderson will dare take the witness-stand and say that Kovalev did not tell of his participation in the terrible butchery of the Webers, and that Superior Judge Johnson will not dare take the stand and swear that Maj. Anderson and Senator Hart did not tell him of the confession and ask his advice thereon.

Zakrewiski was called to the stand again today. He again repeated the story which he said Kovalev had told him of the murder and just how it was committed. Kovalev had told him that on the evening the murder was committed a man (Grocer Jost, who testified to such facts,) had stopped and gazed at him while he stood in front of the Weber house. Kovalev told Zakrewiski that if the man had remained there a few minutes longer, he would have stabbed him to the heart. Hart and Anderson have asked for another private conference with Kovalev. In his confession to Olga Gordenko today, Kovalev said that Tscherbakoff had a hypnotic influence over him, and that Tscherbakoff did the killing while he (Kovalev) stood by and watched him.

The attorneys for the defense have been placed in a very trying position. It was rumored tonight that they would again introduce the insanity plea as a defense, although a committee of distinguished physicians examined Kovalev and pronounced him sane.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.-The sensation of the day in the Kovalev murde case was the confession of the prisoner at a time when his attorneys expected to prove an alibi for him. They wer practically paralyzed when he told them he was present when the murder was committed.

them he was present when the murder was committed.

The persistency of Olga Gordenko had its reward in breaking down the reserve of the suspicious Russian. After almost an hour and a half of urging. Kovalev consented to tell all he claimed to know about the crime. He made a lengthy statement in Russian with the Ninilist woman as his amanuensis, the gist of which was that he and Tscherbakoff visited the Weber residence on the night of the tragedy, going up the back stairs and a least the stairs of the

On the rear porch they found a long-handled ax, which Tscherbakoff took, and, having removed their shoes and stockings, they signify crept upstairs. Kovalev stumbled and accidentally made a holse; Tscherbakoff cursed ibim under his breath, as they heard the old man moving inside the house, and they crouched in a dark corner of the porch near the kitchen. The deceased

Weber opened the kitchen door and stepped toward the closet Tscherbakoff had the ax raised waiting for him. Then he let it fall upon the skull of the unsuspecting victim. Weber fell against the door and called to his wife. "Murder," or "I am being killed. "Scherbakoff struck him again, and the old man was silent. Then Tscherbakoff ran into the kitchen and killed Mrs. Weber. After that they plundered the house and took the sack of money and the clothing.

spell whenever Tscherbakon wanted him to do anything, and he was not able to say no.

Zakrewiski, while on the witness stand this afternoon, said that Kovalev had told him in San Francisco that he (Kovalev) had wielded the murderous ax, and not Tscherbakon. It is hinted that at the end of the trial Zakrewiski may be arrested as an accessory.

couraged by the improvement in the appearance of their client and his bright and intelligent looks, took him into Judge Johnson's chambers and had a conference with him for the purpose of agreeing upon a line of defense. H. C. Wahrafting, the Russian interpretar for the defense, translated the first question asked by Senator Hart.

"Where were you on the night of December 29 of last year, 1894?"

Kovalev looked straight into the eyes of Senator Hart and replied, in a firm voice "I was in Saoramento."

This was a shock to his attorneys. It was something which they had not expected. They had hoped that he would be able to give them some evidence which would enable them to establish an alibl.

"Were you alone, or was anyone with you?"

"Was Matthleusky Tscherbakoff."

All hope was not lost yet, thought the lawyers. He may be able to prove that he was with Tscherbakoff in a lodging house at the time of the committing of the murder. But Senator Hart paused long before he asked the next question, for that would be a crucial one. "Do you know where the Weber Grocery is in this city?"

"Yes."

"Yes." "How when?"

"Yes, it is on that street down there facing the park, where the big white stone palace is."

An Oakland Infant Being Baked to

a Proper Consistency. GULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—An Oak-land infant is being raised in an oven, from which an incubator has been ex-temporized by Dr. F. E. McCullough, the physician attending the mother. On Wednesday a girl was born to a young couple living at Pledmont Heights, but the little stranger did not get as fair a start in life as little ones get as fair a start in life as little ones should, having put in an appearance prematurely, and in consequence it is weakly. Dr. McCullough saw that the only hope for it was artificial nursing, and hastened into town, where at a stove store he picked out an oven used ordinarily for biscuits, pies, etc., and from it constructed a warm abiding place for the baby. The walls of the oven were lined with cotton, a thermometer was attached to the top so that the attendant might read it and note the temperature, and with a steady-burning lamp beneath from a parlor oil stove it is hoped that the infant may be nursed to strength. The incubator is watched incessantly by a nurse, as the temperature must not be allowed to fall below blood heat, between 85 and 90 deg., for fear of chilling, nor above that point, for fear of overheating.

Fruitvale Improvement Company, supported by local capital, had a gigantic Fruitvale Improvement Company, supported by local capital, had a gigantic scheme on hand for making money in Fresno county, but in endeavoring to carry about ninety raisin-growers through the recent spell of hard times the corporation stumbled and fell. A petition asking the Superior Court to adjudge the corporation insolvent was filed today by John Curtin, the president, and John W. Bourdette, secretary. The company is in debt to the extent of $118,694, but its officers assert that it has assets amounting to $205,-223, but tied up in such a manner as to render them semporarily unavailable. The corporation owns but little real estate, but holds promissory notes and mortgages worth, the officers say, far more than its own indebtedness.

The company started some time ago into the business of cultivating vineyards in Fresno county for embryo viticulturists who came out from the East and located there. As faw of these people had any money of their own except barely enough to purchase a vineyard, the company undertook to support them, taking for security a lien upon the vineyards and also requiring a percentage of the profits accraing from the sale of the crops. All of its proteges began to do well and there was a bright outlook for the cultivators until the financial flurry came on. Then the vineyardists found that it was all they could do to keep themsel on the terms of the difficulty and had to go into insolvency in order to save ourselves," we simply could see no other way out of the difficulty and had to go into insolvency in order to save ourselves, was all secretary Bourdette. "We simply could not help us, and then that judgment against the company in Fresno upset the whole concern. We hope to get on our feet again, however. Through the assignee our bills will be collected and our debts paid, and I am confident that there will be a balance to our credit."

Capt. J. W. Smith was really a very wealthy man. Before he divided his fortune up among his children and his wife, he was worth many millions. This was all made in Denver real estate and Denver railroads. He was a pioneer of that city, having gone there when but one railroad ran into the place. He built the Denver and South Park Railroad, which is one of the most wonderful pleces of engineering in the world. He sold it to Jay Gould when that gentleman controlled the Union Pacific, and he made $1,000,000 on the deal. He divided his property up among his children and his wife twelve years ago, and then came to California with a small portion of what he had left, and sought investments here.

respects to the railroad, Wells, Fargo & Co., and the detectives, and then went into a consideration of the testimony, which he contended did not in any way connect his client with the the crime. He argued that the action of Brady at the time of the encounter with Martin and Bowers, near Cottonwood, was in no way indicative of the nature of the man who shot Sheriff Bogard in the car. The man who fired the shot in the car would have filled Bowers full of shot while he was running away.

Attorney Carlin opened by a very high compliment to the murdered Sheriff. THE COAST DEFENSES.

idmiral Walker Says We are in Helpless Condition.
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Admiral Walker adds his testimony to that of Gen. Miles concerning the weakness of the government coast defenses.

"I am a good American," said he, "but I cannot shut my eyes to cold facts. We are not prepared today to pressay be are not prepared today to pressay be

I cannot shut my eyes to cold facts. We are not prepared today to engage in war with any first-class power. We are in the position that China occupied in her recent struggle with Japan. We have a vast population great wealth, boundless resources and endless patriotism, but we cannot maintain an offensive or defensive attitude against any one of a half dozen foreign countries. What Gen. Miles says about the defenseless condition of our coast cities is entirely correct. It is true that New York and San Francisco are better protected than other commercial cities, is entirely correct. It is true that New York and San Francisco are better protected than other commercial cities, but even they would be helpless against the insults of a dozen powerful ironclads. So far as the remaining cities are concerned, they have no protection whatever.

"Congress ought to make liberal appropriation for coast defenses and for ships-of-war. More than anything else we need a navy. If we had a dozen battleships of the Indiana class on the Atlantic coast, we could defy as powerful a maritime country as Great Britain. We have now four battleships building, and two others have been appropriated for. We need at least seven more. With anything like a fair system of coast defenses, we would be beyond the probabilities of war. There would be no more Corinto incidents; no more talk of foreign aggressions on American soil. The United States would be pre-eminent on the American continent. The greatest preventive against war is to be fully prepared for it."

"Then you don't think we are prepared for war at present?"

"We are far from it. Our ships are the best of their class in the world, but we have not enough of them. We need more fighting-ships-battleships. The battleship is to the navy what the infantry is to the army. It is the fighting part of the navy.

need more fighting-ships—battleships. The battleship is to the navy what the infantry is to the army. It is the fighting part of the nevy, but it should be supplemented with torpedo-boats, coast-defense vessels and swift cruisers, just as the infantry is made more effective by the employment of cavairy and artillery. The battleship is not needed in times of peace, but it is indispensable in times of war. When not actively engaged it can be laid up in ordinary, and the police work of the ocean can be performed by small gunboats, which would not be effective in battle, but which are useful to carry the fiag. This is the policy pursued by Great Britain, who sends her gunboats abroad, while her powerful ironclads, which are more expensive to keep in commission, remain on the home stations."

"But do you think that at the present time England or any of the continental powers would have us at a disadvantage?"

"Undoubtedly. It is useless to talk about war with any strong European country in our present condition."

Waller's Pitiful Appeal. Waller's Pitiful Appeal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The family of Waller, now imprisoned in France, received a letter today dated October 16. in which Waller gives a gloomy account of his condition. He says the newly appointed directory of the prison has, in view of his condition, arranged so that he can purchase such rations of food as will be necessary for his health, and flannels to protect him against the cold, and he urged his family to send him money at once for these uses, so he can receive it before the middle of November. This appeal found Mrs. Waller in a state of destitution.

WHY, WHY, WHY

Why can we give the public a high-class Dentistry at a greatly reduced price?
Because we apply ordinary business principles: by making an inducement in price we secure a large patronage, and by satisfying the people and giving a written guarantee to that effect for a period of years, we retain their patronage.

To acquaintyou with our work which we believe to be equal to your most prominent and high-priced dentists, we will fill one tooth with sliver or extract one tooth free.

As a turther assurance of ability we will say that our operators are college graduates and licensed according to law.

To delicate and nervous persons we can conscientiously recommend our anaesthetic for the painless extraction of teeth as the best yet discovered. PRICES:

A MILLSTONE ON HIS NECK.

How He Got Rid of It. Mr. S's occupation was such that he felt the occasional need of a stimulant. He never intended to take more than one drink —but he generally did. On rare occasions he actually got full.

he actually got full.

Though it never seriously interfered with his business he felt that it was reducing his health and success. He made frequent resolutions and broke them. He was slowly going down hill.

Then he found Peruvian Bitters—and he going down hill.

Then he found Peruvian Bitters—and he is now rapidly going up.

Peruvian Bitters are composed of the world famous Peruvian Bark and other medicinal herbs of great value blended in fine old California brandy. The invigorating and tonic effect of the Peruvian Bark cooperates with the stimulating effect of the brandy but neutralizes its tendency to produce an appetite for more. Peruvian Bitters satisfy the desire for a stimulant—quench the fire instead of adding fuel. Aftertaking this palatable and highly invigorating drink for a while the desire for alcoholic stimulants is gone; the appetite and digestion are in normal condition; the system is toned up and every function at its best. You continue to take Peruvian Bitters, not from habit but because you feel it does you continuous good, fortifies you against colds, malaria and disease germs of every description and makes you as far as possible a perfect physical being.

IN HARD LUCK. Burglar Armin's View of His Late "You're in hard luck," said Bailiff Appel to Burglar Armin, as he was conducting him back to jail from the Police Court, after his preliminary ex-

"Yes, I am in hard luck. I blowed open all them safes and hardly got nothing," replied the burglar.

The bailiff had reference to the fact that Armin was caught and is again on his way to State's prison, when he made the remark about hard luck, but Armin did not look at it in that way. He is anxious to get back to his old quarters at Folsom or San Quentin, where he spent twenty years of his life.

Chief Glass has received a letter from Sergt. J. P. McManus of Sacramento, giving Armin's record there. He appears on the Sacramento records under the name of Ammen, alias Baskawitz. The letter said that Armin was sent to Folsom from Sacramento, February 9, 1881, for five years. February 7, 1878, he escaped from jail at Yuba City, was recaptured and sent to San Quentin for four years. This accounts for only nine years of his twenty wears' imprison-"Yes, I am in hard luck. four years. This accounts for only nine years of his twenty years' imprison-ment. He was sent up once from San Jose.

Armin was born in Berlin, Germany, and came to the United States in 1885. He was originally a potter by trade, but has worked at various other trades in the penitentiaries. He does not appear to a desperate criminal. In fact, he is about as docile a prisoner as ever occupied the Los Angeles City Jail.

"THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

It would, of course, be gratifying to State pride if the Republican National Convention could be held in San Francisco in 1896. Looking at the matter from this point of view only, if there were no other and weightier considerations, every citizen of California would earnestly desire, with this journal, the bringing of the convention to this Coast, and would cheerfully do everything possible to bring about that result. But there are considerations which are opposed to the holding of neither politic nor safe to ignore them, for it is easily within the bounds of possibility that they may strongly influence the result of the next Presidential election

If the convention should come to California it will be because of extraordinary efforts and strong inducements put forth by those who are now striving to accomplish that result. A rily be raised and expended to insure the success of the scheme. The $100,-000 which San Francisco proposes to raise will hardly be enough to pay the necessarily heavy expenses, besides the bonus of half as much more which it is now said, semi-officially, will be required. It is proposed to open wide the doors of California hospitality, to load the delegates with no end of favors and courtesies, and in short to entertain them like princes from the time they start for California to the time of their arrival at their homes or the return trip. They are to want fo nothing; all their needs and desires are to be anticipated and supplied with lavish hospitality from first to last And, by the way, we observe that some of the noisiest of these people of munificent ideas on the subject of hos pitality are exhibiting a paucity, not to say a costiveness, in the matter of "giving down" which is at wide variance with their boastful pretensions and a grotesque commentary on their

The scheme broached is a ver pretty one, however, and so far as it speaks for California hospitality it speaks well. But what benefit is California to receive for all this expenditure of time and trouble? Clearly, unit would be misdirected effort to put forth so much energy to secure the convention. There is plainly an idea or expectation on the part of those who are striving so strenuously to have the convention held at San Francisco that California will in some manderive compensating advantages from the gathering. In point of fact, nothing would be more natural than that the entertainers should expect certain favors and concessions from the entertained. If the national convention were to be made a grand carnival occasion, those who received hospitality would naturally be expected to meet their hosts in a generous spirit, and to grant them such favors as they might-ask, within the bounds of reason. #### AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES. The Bostonians sans "Robin Hood" last night to a packed house and rendered the blithe and merry music of the opera even better than on the opening night. The part of Little John was taken by an unnamed singer, who disclosed wonderfully sweet and pure barytone. He achieved an unmistakable success, and in the famous "Nut-Brown Ale" solo, with chorus, gained a rapturous encore. The other players were accorded the usual warm reception, Eugene Cowles in the Armorer's song coming in for a big meed of applause, which he richly earned, as his noble voice was never in better form than last night.

DOUBLE DATES FOR MUSIN, gents of the Great Violin Virtuose

W. B. Edminster, general manager, and Edward Bageard, advance agent for Mexico, of Ovide Musin, the violin virtuoso, have "dated" the Ovide Muheresy, the silverite fanatics would be afforded an opportunity to "roar"—to make more or less capital out of the sin Company for several distinct places on the same evenings of next week, and when the members of the company reach here Monday next, they will be ere brought to San Francisco by the

When Bageard was employed by Musin in Chicago, it was agreed that he shrould, on account of his familiarity with the Mexicans and their language, manage the dates to be filled there, and shrould, on account of his familiarity with the Mexicans and their language, manage the dates to be filled there, and that his employment should cease with the week following November 18. As it was detended at that time to remain in Mexico till the end of the term for which Bageard was employed, he was not limited definitely to any particular territory for the filling of dates. The company left Mexico sooner than was originally intended to, and, unknown to Mr. Edminster, Bageard came to Los Angeles and contracted with the Orpheum management for a one-week engagement, beginning on the 18th, at $1200. In the meantime Mr. Edminster had made dates at Riverside Redlands and Fasadena, and had almost completed arrangements for two nights in Los Angeles, in churches, when he happened to run across a member of the Orpheum management. Mr. Edminster nearly fainted when he was shown a contract signed by Bageard for the whole of the week following. handicapped by certain considerations of quid pro quo, better understood than defined. Edminster nearly fainted when he was shown a contract signed by Bageard for the whole of the week following the 18th.

The condition of things is quite interesting. The Orpheum people are shaking their contract in Manager Edminster's face and laughing in considerable glee, and Mr. Edminster is telling his friends that he will be dod gasted—or words to that effect—if he will let the great Musin fill the engagement made by Bageard at the Orpheum.

There are two other performers in the Musin company besides the virtuoso, and it is barely possible that, by skillful management and the wings of doves, they may fill all the dates by doing a rapid "turn" at each place and State pride is all well enough in its way. But the triumph of Republican ions is of far greater importance than doing a rapid "turn" at each place and then flying to another.

When Musin arrives from Phoenin Monday next, he will be called upon by Mr. Edminster to designate which agen has the ha-ha on his side.

The Steam Yacht Eleanor is a Thing of Beauty.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 12.—One of the finest specimens of naval architecture ever seen in this harbor is the bark-rigged steam yacht Eleanor, now swinging idly at her anchor, as her owner and commodore, William A. Slater of Norwich, Ct., and a party of friends are enjoying the beauties and comforts of the bay and climate. As will be seen by the sketch made specially for The Times, the Eleanor is a trim craft, yet of such a build and size as to make her extremely comfortable in the trip rimes, the Eleanor is a trim craft, yet of such a build and size as to make her extremely comfortable in the trip around the world, a large part of which journey is already accomplished. Since leaving Long Island Sound, about eighteen months ago, the Eleanor has sailed 33,000 miles. The yacht is 231 feet long, 32 feet beam, mean draft 13 feet, with a displacement of 1136 tons. It is built entirely of steel with water ballast tanks forming a double bottom forward and aft of the machinery. The engine is of the vertical inverted direct-action, triple-expansion type. Two steel Scotch boilers supply the steam. Other machinery in the ship includes electric dynamos, a search-light, laundry apparatus, electric fans, steam windlasses, distilling and ice machines, steam steering-gear, and seven boats. The luxurious main saloon of the vessel and the owner's stateroom and study are as commodious and elegant in appointment as are any apartments on shore. The finish is in mahogany throughout, with polished floors. Stores of costly bric-a-brac and a collection of paintings valued at nearly $100,000 adorn the saloon. A quaintly-carved (San Bernardino Times-Index.) The Supreme Court has just rendered another decision in a libel suit in favor of the newspaper. It was the case of Blanton Duncan ros. the Times-Mirror Company, publishers of the Los Angeles Times. Duncan conducted his own case, assisted by the late Judge Anson Brunson of this city. The lower court decided against him and he appealed to the Supreme Court, with the above noted result. It is not so easy now to cinch a newspaper with a libel suit as in former days, when the old English common-law precedents were considered good authority.

(Bakersfield Californian.) Fresno will ship thirty carloads of oranges this season. It is only a short time since some of our esteemd contemporaries in the south were poking lots of fun at Fresno for her citrus pretensions. Considering that there are only a few acres of oranges in that county, and that they are but just coming into bearing, the showing of a crop of thirty carloads is a very good one. It is only a few years comparatively since Riverside's whole crop was but a dozen carloads.

(Oceanside Blade:) The government is addicted to giving large bonuses for the construction of war vessels that develop over a certain amount of speed on their trial trips. This is all wrong. What the government should do is to require eyery, contractor to build a vessel of a certain speed, and, if he fails, let him lose a certain per cent. by it. This giving thousands for a certain extra amount of speed on a trial trip is only a species of robbery. There are mighty few warships whose machinery can stand many tests such as they are put to to secure these prizes. Let these gentlemen who build warships get down on the same plane as common people and take their chances like other folk. The surplus in the treasury would no doubt be much larger were this kind of nonsense stopped.

(San Diego Sun:) While the ostentatious display of mourning was being made in Paris yesterday, by Mrs. John W. Mackay, there was a stricken father sitting in a San Francisco hotel, thinking of his first-born. It was the room which he entered last Friday, when he shut all the world out to think of his dead son—alone! Sleepless and grief-stricken. Apparently this envied bonanza king is very much alone. The woman of fashion whom he calls wife, and who elects to reside where it is impossible for him to be while yet in active control of the money-making forces that enable her to astonish titled society with lavish entertainments, is clearly not given to wasting much thought upon this plain old man. Nowhere in the cabled reports is there mention of him. It was the mother's name only that paraded itself at this very gorgeous funeral. She must have been greatly solaced by its success.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The annual een made public. He says that since the date of the last report the board has prepared projects for the artillery defense of Philadelphia, Key West, San Diego, the mouth of the Columbia River, Galveston and Puget Sound. Allotments have been made during the year for im-placements for fourteen 12-inch, twenty one 10-inch and seven 8-inch guns and have been made during the year for impliacements for fourteen 13-inch, twenty-one 10-inch and seven 8-inch guns and eighty 12-inch mortars, to be distributed among. Portland, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Hampton Roads, Charleston, Pensacola, Mobile, New Orleans and San Francisco.

Gen. Craighill attaches much importance to the defense of ports by submarine mines supplementing the artillery defense. With the small funds in hand, he has completed twenty-five casements for the defense of the Atlantic coast and San Francisco, and is about to undertake the construction of one at Galveston. He submits estimates of $50,000 for additional casements and $60,000 for the purchase of submarine mines and appliances.

The general states that the appropriation for the preservation and repair of fortifications is entirely inadequate, and suggests an increase of the appropriation. As the appropriation of $150,000 for the acquisition of sites for the coast defenses was entirely exhausted at Narragansett Bay, Baltimore and Charleston, he requests an additional appropriation of $250,000 for the procurement of other sites.

Gen. Craighill favors carrying on river and harbor improvements under continuous contracts, for which appropriations have been made in the Sundry Civil Act. The financial statement shows there was expended on rivers and harbors during the past fiscal year, exclusive of the Mississippl and Missouri River commissions expenditures, the sum of $15,440,994, making the total for the past two years $30,994,094.

Estimates are submitted in lump for the next two years, which Gen Craighill believes is necessary in order to conform to the practice of Congress in falling to pass a bill during a short session, of $21,015,197, made up as follows: General improvements, $1,256,-600; continuing contract work, $5,044,-597 (this for expediture in one year;) Mississippl River commission, $2,667,-500; Missouri. River commission, $2,667,-500; Missouri. River commission, $2,667,-600; examinations, surveys and contingenc by the Missouri River commission, $160.000.

Of the South Pass of the Mississippl it is said that during the past fiscal year the legal channel was maintained at the head of the pass and through the pass itself; but during a period of forty-three days such channel was not maintained through the jettles. Estimates for continuing the work on the more important river and harbor projects are submitted, including Oakland harbor, California, $100.000; San Luis Oblspo, $40.000; San Diego harbor, $50.000; San Joaquin River, $25.000; Humboldt harbor and hay, $475.000; Coos Bay, Oregon, $95.000; Yaquina bay, $25.000; Suislaw River, $75.000; Olympia harbor, $40.000; Columbia and lower Willamette rivers, $179.000; Cascade Canal, $100.000; Willamette River above Portland, $100.000.

MRS. LELAND STANFORD.

the Talks of the University and Her Legal Fight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Leland Stanford, wife of the deceased Cali-fornia millionaire, is at the Fifth-ave-nue Hotel. She talked of the university founded by her husband in mem sity founded by her husband in memory of their son, and of the government's suit which has tied up suns formerly available for the carrying on of the university work. She said:

"The suit of the government against the estate of my husband, involving, as it does, the very life of the university founded by him, has caused me the deepest trouble and anxiety, and no one but myself knows what I have undergone in mental worry for the past two years. You see I have not been my own mistress. I have been a creature at the mercy of the courts and subject to their behest day and night.

ture at the mercy of the courts and subject to their behest day and night. Drawn-out and prolonged has been the contest. I now have hopes that in three months the final decision will be rendered and the matter will be settled for good and all-for good, I hope and trust. A favorable decision means a great deal to the people of California. "The naming of this early date for a hearing is due to the Attorney-General alone, and I am very grateful to him. Had the case been obliged to await its turn on the docket I am sure that I do not know what I would have done, as there are fully 300 cases ahead of it. If the case be decided against the estate I shall have no alternative but to close the doors of the Stanford University next June, when the college year expires. I intend, before returning to California, to visit Niagara to examine into those wonderful operations which are in progress there to turn its tremendous power into benefit to the cities surrounding it." Co-operative Stores.

(Sitka Alaskan, Oct. 12:) A prominent Pendleton gentleman is in receipt of a letter from his sister-in-law, who resides in Southern California. The nent Pendieton gentleman is in receipt of a letter from his sister-in-law, who resides in Southern California. The letter contains some interesting information concerning the establishment in that section of co-operative stores by the Populists. The claim is made that goods shall be sold to members of the clan at 2 per cent. profit only. The young lady writes that the innovation has practically paralyzed the business of the non-co-operative stores, and will probably result in disaster to all concerned, as it has been proven time and again by the sorry experiments of the Grange and kindred organizations that no business can last long conducter on a profit of 2 per cent.

We had not supposed there was a part of the United States where the co-operative experiment had not been tried and found impracticable, but the fact that the venture is meeting with encouragement in Southern California is proof that the farmers of that section have yet to learn that there is nothing in these or the many other communistic schemes wherein there is a lurking assumption that the members of the brotherhood are all honest men. The man who can afford to pay cash knows too much about business to take any stock in such visionary schemes, and the man who cannot pay cash will not long remain a patron of a co-operative store. It is not likely that the Populistic co-operative stores of Southern California will enjoy an experience very much different from those inaugurated in other sections of the United States, not one of which succeeded in proving even an ordinary success.

GRAVE REFLECTIONS ON COL. CROFTON'S CHARACT

Commander of the Fifteenth United States Infantry May be Retired Early as a Result of the Pague Court-martial.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, Nov. 15.— (Special Dispatch.) The findings in the Pague court-martial promise a new sensation in Fort Sheridan and Chicago military circles. The act of Lieut. Pague will be regarded with lenient eyes, it is be regarded with tentent said, by the higher authorities at Washington, and while he may be retired from service, no blot will be left on from service, no blot will be left on his name. Furthermore, it is generally believed that the Fifteenth Infantry will not be allowed to suffer for the sins of Col. Crofton, and that he may be practically retired, though his retirement will not take place until 1898 The troops will stay at Fort Sheridan at least until spring, and perhaps

All the trouble and the reputation of unsavory character that have come to the regicharacter that have come to the regiment has been through Col. Pague was unable to bear the burden, and from a quiet-tempered man he became excitable and morose. Other facts told at these secret sessions are exceedingly sensational in character. They tell of feasts and banquets held in downtown restaurants, in which Col. Crofton and Pague were conspicuous parties. Gen. Miles knows the record of Col. Crofton, and was heard to remark before he left Chicago that the regiment should not be allowed to suffer for the sins of its commanding officer.

POMONA.

POMONA, Nov. 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) Since the successful voting of the water bonds by a satisfac tory two-thirds vote in each of the five wards and the city at large, ther ing of the water bonds by a satisfactory two-thirds vote in each of the five wards and the city at large, there has been earnest talk in various circles rather favoring the city's purchase—out of the $80,000 for pipe lines—of as much of the 'old company's lines as would be wise and practicable. The Progress of Thursday evening says upon this subject: "Now that the people of this city have decided by such a large vote in favor of municipal ownership, of water, and have placed the city in a position to secure, and own, its domestic water supply, the question of purchasing the plants of the two old water companies presents itself. We believe that the city could use much of the pipe lines of the old companies for its outlying and distributing mains; and, if it can, it should certainly do so, provided, of course, that the old companies will sell. We favor a liberal policy on the part of the city toward the old companies, and have been of that mind from the beginning. The companies have given the city good service in past years, and as good service as possible at all times, and now that the city, as much of the old pipe lines should be used as can be advantage-ously: Should the premiums on the bonds be liberal, the city could afford to pay a fair price for these plants, especially in consideration of the enhanced incomes which it would receive from its water, although the valuation of the plants was unquestionably reduced by the vote of last Saturday. As a business proposition, it would seem to be best for the old companies to retire gracefully from the field, especially if they can do so with little loss to themselves on account of their domestic pipe lines.

"It would seem to be just and proper for the City Trustees to request the old companies to submit at an early date propositions for the sale of their domestic propositions for the sale of property soon. This great organization at Rome is a monopoly. It is a religion for revenue only.

"You have probably been told that the church does not grant indulgences. I have one signed by Archbishop Gross of Portland, offering to immolate in Mt. The Revivals.

The revival services at the First Christian Church continue with growing interest and attendance. Last night Evangelist Romig preached an sarnest sermon to a large audience io illustrate his sermon on "Things and Persons Essential to Salvation." It was a beautiful chart and very graphically set forth the different persons and steps that have a part in man's salvation. These steps he divided into God's part in human redemption. Christ's work, and man's part in this work. God's part comprehends His love, grace and mercy. Jesus's part includes His personal relation to man, the regenerative work of the Holy Spirit and the gospel. On man's part he set forth faith, repentance, confession, baptism, hope, prayer and union with the blood of Christ. The way of salvation was presented very clearly, and forcibly and made an earnest appeal to those present to accept the way of salvation. At the close of the service one woman confessed her faith in Christ.

CROSSWALK SEASON.

Approach of Rainy Months Make

The approach of the rainy season brings on the annual recurrence of the demand for crosswalks in various parts of the city. In years past this same time keep his coleagues from getting more than their share.

Sometimes it has transpired that an agreement would be entered into whereby each Councilman would be allowed for his ward a certain number of crosswalks. Some of the wards would need them more than others, and there would usually be a great deal of pulling and hauling in the matter.

The wood crosswalks which have been put in from year to year, it is found, do not have the staying qualities that it is considered sidewalks which cost as much as they do should have, and, as an improvement on them, it is intended to have asphalt crossings put in. These cost more at first, but will wear longer. For this purpose bids for the construction of asphalt crosswalks are to be received by the City Council at Morday's meeting.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE COURTHOUSE.

Sentence on Kennett and Roemer Pronounced Vesterday.

Yesterday decided the fate of F. B. Kennett, the slayer of A. B. Lawson, and of Frank Roemer, the young fellow who shot B. M. Ullery at Downey. Kennett was given ten years at San Quentin, the extreme penalty for man-slaughter, and Roemer pot fifteen years at the same prison, a comparatively light dose for murder in the second degree.

The two cases were so nearly allies that Jugge Smith had them brought up to gettler, and the same rot applied requally to both. That opinion was read by Judge, Smith in answer to the motion for new trial, and, as it gost throughly into the vexed question of self-defense, put forward in nearby very murder trial, it is given in full.

WHAT IS SELF-DEFENSE.

WHAT IS SELF-DEFENSE.

"The defendant was tried for the murder of A. B. Lawson, and the jury returned a verdict of manislaughter."

"The defendant was tried for the murder of a B. Lawson and leger error of the court in giving the following instructions to the jury:

"The defendant was tried for the murder of A. B. Lawson and the survey or murder trial, be given in full.

WHAT IS SELF-DEFENSE.

"The defendant was tried for the murder of a B. Lawson and the survey or winder trial, basing his motion to the jury:

"In order to justify the homicide the danger menacing the defendant to will the deceased the survey of the defendant to kill the deceased to the survey."

"The defendant to kill the deceased the survey of the defendant to kill the deceased to the survey of the defendant to kill the deceased to the survey of the s nission of a crime.'
"And no man, by his own lawless acts,

"And no man, by his own lawless acts, can create a necessity for acting in call-defense, and then, upon killing the person with whom he seeks the cifficulty, interpose a plea of self-defense. The plea of necessity is a shield for those only who are without fault in occasioning it and acting under it. "Undoubtedly the defendant can show in justification, that, although he brought upon himself an imminent danger, he, in the presence of that necessity, changed his mind and conduct and honestly endeavored to escape it, but could not without striking the mortal blow. But in the assume of such circumstances, when the defendant seeks and brings upon himself a difficulty with the decessed, in which he willingly continues until he involves himself in the necessity to kill, the law will not hold him eville. be faulty, and which it has been found must be taken out.

It is urged that the work must not have been done in accordance with the contract, else it would not be in its present bad condition. As a matter of justice to contractors who do good work, it is argued that some committee of the Council ought to investigate the question, and ascertain whether the work was or was not done in accordance with contract, and who did it.

If it be found that the work was not performed according to contract, then it would be in order for the Council to adopt a resolution excluding the man who did the work from doing more work for the city.

tained in several decisions of our Supreme Court. Notably in the case of the People vs. Westlake (62 Cal., Reports, page 303.) where the former decisions are commented on and indorsed.
"Indeed only one clause in the instruction is questioned in this case, and that is where it declares, 'The plea of necessity is a shield for those only who are without fault in occasioning it and acting-under it.'
"In support of their contention, counsel for defendant cite the case of the People vs. Button, (reported in 106 Cal., at page 628.) But before examining that case, let us see what is the law of self-defense. Section 197 of the Penal Code provides, among other things, that homicide is justifiable when committed in the lawful defense of one's person, when there is reasonable ground to apprehend a design to do some great bodily injury, and immiment danger of such design being accomplished. And the, same section further provides that 'the person in whose behalf the defense was made, if he was the assailant or engaged if square the west line of the triangular plece of city land lying northeasterly from Westlake Park and against the west city line so as to make the northwesterly line of said land parallel with the opposite boundary.

As a condition of the gift she asks that the said plece of city land be with the opposite boundary.

As a condition of the gift she asks that the said piece of city land be dedicated for park purposes, and that a boulevard 120 feet wide be opened from the west city line opposite Sixth street to Westlake Park, and that Ward street be opened and extended through said city land into West Sixth street.

A legal question has been raised in reference to the acceptance of this offer of Mrs. Shaito. The land which she proposes to donate to the city is outside the city limits. While there seems to be no legal objection to the acceptance of the deed of the land, yet it is questioned whether the city can under the law expend money on the improvement of land outside the city for park purposes.

Allege Faulty Cement Work.

J. A. Osgood and others have filed a communication to the City Council as follows:

"We, the undersigned property-owners on West Tweifth street, between Burlington and Westlake avenues, do respectfully and most earnestly protest against the acceptance of and payments on the said street, as the work thereon has not been done according to the specifications. Especially is this the case as to the cement work, the curb already showing signs of rapid disintegration."

As a general rule, this is too plain and self-evident to merit danger of such design being accomplished. And the, samed section further provides that the decline any further struggle before the homicide was committed.

"But defendant has a further contention in regard to this part of the instruction, which is, that there is no evidence in the case that the defendant was the aggressor, and hence nothing on which to base such an instruction, and that this is error. He cites a long list of authorities from our own and other States. His leading case on the point is found in 158 U. S. Reports, the case of Beard vs. U. S. An examination of that case shows that the court committed several errors in stating the law to the jury. Warner is enjoying the dividends upon the sum and threatens to withdraw it from the bank and dispose of it as he thinks proper. Mrs. Snow has no mind to allow this, and is suing for the 3890 and interest, and for an injunction from the court to restrain her enterprising relative from withdrawing the money from the bank. The court is also asked to declare Warner and the bank to be Mrs. Snow's trustees, and that a strict account of their disposition of the trust fund be rendered.

A little over a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Lassell signed an agreement with Colby by which they conveyed to him their farm in the Rancho Santa Gertrudes and all-the live stock and farming implements, upon condition that he assumed and paid off the mortgage of $500 upon the farm, and agreed to provide the old people with all the necessaries of life. They were to have their home upon the place, and Colby was to take the part of a son of the house. He agreed to cultivate the land and to share the profits with the two old people, for whom he was to care, as a son might, for the remainder of their lives.

Colby and his family were to have a living out of the ranch and a fair share in the profits, but he was bound not to sell or encumber any of the property, real or personal, without the written consent of Mr. and Mrs. Lassell.

As soon as the man had fairly gotten the property into his own hands, it is alleged that he commenced to violate, in the most thorough-going and systematic manner, every provision in the contract. He failed to assume the mortgage, and neglected to pay the interest on the debt. He took possession of all the corn, hay, etc., sold the hogs, put a lien on the calf and took the only horse for his own use. Instead of cultivating the land, he utterly neglected it, and allowed the old people to want for the commonest necessaries of life.

They struggled along, working far beyond their strength to keep body and soul together, while Colby lived high. At last the poor old woman had to be taken to the asylum, and the old man was left utterly alone. He fell sick of bronchitis, and was left to suffer until the neighborhood, roused to indignation, interfered.

As soon as he recovered Mr. Lassell began suit against Colby for the restoration of his property, and for $500 d amages.

The case will be continued today.

The dried-fruit market continues to be more favorable to sellers than it was for many months, although there is still an absence of the active demand for dried fruit which holders have been anticipating. One of the reasons for the improvement that has been noticeable is the gradual using up of stocks of dried fruit in the East which has been consigned. These consignments not only injure the parties who send the fruit but demoralize the entire market. The sooner growers stop sending begin to market their fruit on the corative plan, the better it will be. the larger sizes of prunes there

According to the Pacific Rural Press. two-thirds of the entire Fresno raisin crop has been forwarded, and it is not surprising that the Eastern market is glutted under these heavy receipts. Packers know full well that to force further supplies upon a market already over-supplied would reduce prices to a where they would not realize packing charges and advances. With a view to checking the forwarding movecert of action, but it failed. However the instinct of self-preservation, in its effect upon the policy of individual packers, accomplished the results which co-operation failed to attain. Ship-ments have practically ceased for a time, and with good effect upon the Eastern markets. It is the expectation among those best informed that, under the informal arrangement which has Fresno holders, prices will soon be ad-

During the present year, up to November 1, there were shipped to the East 4435 cars of fresh fruit, of which Chicago took 1473, New York 862, Boston 273 and Omaha 176, the remainder being divided among a large number of other points. Railroad rates occur at once as the chief obstacle, but in 1894, with freight rates the same and refrigerator charges higher, we shipped 6259 cars, as against 4435 this year, a falling-off of 1824 cars.

The San Francisco Chronicle, in commenting on the facts that were brought out at the recent convention of the fruit-growers in Sacramento, says:

"The trouble seems to be at the other end of the route rather than here or in transportation. Somebody there, be it one firm or two of half a dozen, seems to make all the profit there is to be made, and to leave little or nothing for the California producer.

"There would seem to be one remedy, and but one, for such a condition of the Eastern middleman. That mecessitates co-operation among the California growers and the handling of their fruit for themselves, but why not? If a district would regulate its shipments carefully and fairly, and put its own agrants or employees into Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other prominent cities, it could not only adapt itself to the demand, but could be sure that it would get all the fruit brought, less necessary and inevitable expenses. The outlook for the lemon and orange

The outlook for the lemon and orange Southern California is good. Reports from Europe are to the effect that the crops of oranges and lemons will both be smaller than last season. The merchants there are much disgusted with the result of their ship-ments last season, and a good many of will look for other markets. Then, again, the Florida crop will not in the market this year, so that, unless some unforeseen accident should happen, the Southern California fruit exchanges will have, this season, a good opportunity to show what they can do

Exaggerated Profits.

A generally well-informed and well-edited contemporary—Garden and Forest-publishes the following item in regard to profits on lemon groves in Southern California:

Southern California:

"The lemon groves of California have this year given small fortunes to their owners. The growers have learned to cure the fruit so that it compares favorably with imported lemons, and the crop is large. A correspondent of the Tribune writes that the product of groves planted ten years has amounted to as much as $3600 an acre this year, of which at least one-half is profit. We apprehend that it must be a good grove and a good year to insure such recults."

This is another of those exaggerated stories of his profits from fruit-growing in Southern California, which one-reads every once in a while in Eastern papers. They do more harm than depreciatory remarks, because when a per-this section, and upon arrival finds that this section, and upon arrival indus that the statements were unfounded, he likes the country all the more, whereas if he is induced to come here by grossly ex-aggerated stories of the profits he may expect to make he becomes bitter and disappointed, and refuses to see any thing good in Southern California.

The item referred to is said to have been founded on a California corre spondence of the New York Tribune. The California Fruit Grower criticises these remarks as follows:

these remarks as follows:

"The first part of the above is true; but it is dollars to doughnuts that no such immensely profitable lemon groves exist in California or elsewhere. While our lemon-grovers do produce much fruit as good as any grown in the world it is not true that a lemon grove in this State of any considerable size ever paid at the rate of $3600 per acre. It is wholly absurd, and a practical impossibility in this or any other country on a large scale. Doubtless the Tribune correspondent arrived at his astonisha large scale. Doubtless the Tribune correspondent arrived at his astonishing results in the good old way; by supposing that a lemon tree ten years planted would yield ten boxes of lemons, and that there would be 100 trees to the acre, and that lemons were quoted in New York at $10 per box. It is the same old brand of Manchausen literature."

There are not a few lemon groves in Southern California which have netted their owners from $500 to $1000 an acre during the past season, owing to the exceptionally high prices which have prevailed. A few groves in good The Times always has and always will nail any such wild and exagger-ated statements as this. The profits of horticulture in Southern California, when carried on in an intelligent and painstaking manner, are sufficiently large, and it is not necessary to unduly inflate them. In short, "the truth about Southern California is good (Stockton Independent:) C. A. Bach-(Stockton Independent:) C. A. Bachman, of the fim of Bachman & Brandt, proprietors of the chicory factory near this city, is preparing a lot of samples of the chicory root and the product of the mills to exhibit at the next session of Congress, in the hope that the law-makers may be induced to foster an industry that is so promising to the land-owners of this county, who are constantly looking for some article which will give them a reasonable return for their labor. The old tariff law was very satisfactory to the owners of the chicory factory, but the removal of the duty of 1 cent a pound on chicory roots crippled the business. Before the Wilson Bill was passed the duty on chicory was 2 cents a pound, and the duty on raw roots was 1 cent a pound. Now the roots are admitted free of duty, and there is where the troubel comes, for the roots shipped to this country from Europe are cut and dried and ready for roasting and grinding.

When the old duty was charged the San Joaquin firm had a find Festion.

tons to the acre, but this was an exceptionally good season for chicory.

Mr. Bachman said yesterday that if it was left alone with a favorable tariff, such as formerly existed, his firm would bring $500,000 into this county every year and distribute most of it among the farmers. Now the money that would do so much good here goes for the labor of tillers of the soil in another country. The only objection to the present tariff is the removal of 1 cent a pound on the roots. That is the matter that the San Joaquin firm will endeavor to call the attention of Congress to in the hope of restoring its old business. In handling chicory roots and reducing them to chicory it takes nearly five tounds of the roots to make one pound of the article of commerce.

The black-head disease of turkeys has for some years been doing great destruction in Southern New England, milk is much used, but the barley meal and milk has never been tested here to any extent. During the last ten days of fattening, but not before, the French make this porridge so thick that it is of a dough-like thickness. This they roll into strips, and with the neck of a bottle or lamp chimney prod off into pleces about the size of a half penny, which are rolled up into little bails or pills. These pellets are then dipped into milk, sugar and water, or glycerine, and forced down the bird's throat till its crop is full.

The French have a special "feeding machine" for forcing these pills down, but the end of a penholder or pencil wrapped round with cloth will doequally well. To insure good weight and a delicate flesh tint only meal from one-year-old grain is used, and the water for mixing should have suet added in the ratio of three-eighths of an ounce to a quart of meal.

A small quantity of coarse grit should be added to the paste to assist digestion. Special care is taken to give the birds no food for at least twelve hours before killing, so that the bowels may be empty at the time of death, whereby certain effects which favor rapid decomposition are avoided. The fowls are also not plucked immediately, as by so doing, while the blood is still fluid, the blood vesticle at the root of each feather becomes gorged, and the fowls get a spotted look. The Germans, after drawing a fowl, put a few pleces of charcoal inside in order that it may keep fresh for a longer time. The Danes also adopt a similar method of fattening.

In Stephen Beale's book on "Profitable Poultry Keeping," we find the following food advocated: The food given should consist of Indian, barley meal, on the death of the profits of the milk first, and mix the food stiff, but not too pasty—crumbly moist is the best definition we can give of it. This should be supplied to the birds warm, and when they appear satisfied what is left in the troughs should be taken, made into finger pleces shaped like a bolus, and, after dipping these in milk, one or th

In a large proportion of the affected fowls, the liver and a part of the intestines are badly diseased, these parts generally being spotted, and in chronic cases are one mass of hardened vellow lumps. The Rhode Island agricultural experiment station at Kingston has been investigating the trouble in co-operation with the United States Division of Animal Pathology, and there is every reason to believe that the disease is of an infectious nature.

ment is made that the applicant is more deserving than some who have received aid.

All transportation lines leading out of the city have very generously given liberal reductions on fares for those the society will certify to as being needy and worthy. Often we are called upon to exercise this privilege when it would not be right to use it, and sometimes severe criticism follows the refusal.

There is a class of people who are poor, no doubt, and under the delusion that a change of location will better their condition, physically or financially, or both, apply to the society to wouch for them—to pay a part or all their fare to some point far away, a city, often, where they have never been for have anyone to aid them when they reach their destination. In such cases the refusal is just.

In making investigations the Central office is under obligations to others, who have done much to aid in reaching the facts. The central office cannot, with its present limited force, do the work without such help. The result of an investigation showing fraud intended by the applicant is free to all, and is often published at our request by the daily papers. Other applicants may depend on a discreet secrecy. Thus the charity workers, individuals or societies, can find our reports a benefit to them in deciding who ought to be helped, and we always are only too glad to do them service in that line when asked to do so.

Two sewing machines were received and given to widows, who are using them to earn a living for their little ones."

Mr. Pridham, the retiring president, read his report of the work as it had progressed during his administration, giving a good idea of the difficulties under which the organization has la-

"It is a matter of some humiliation to those in this organization, who are so earnestly striving for the betterment of the poor, to feel that the public at large take so little interest in its affairs. It is almost beyond belief that a city of the population of Los Angeles should show so small a membership in the Associated Charities. It is proper that have the condition is not the result of inactivity on the part of its officers. The public have been constantly and persistently reminded of the fact that their assistance is needed, but results of show that they have as persistently refrained from responding with membership dues. ""

"It has been suggested by some that the moneys to be expended for the care of the poor of this city should be derived largely from the public funds, and thus equalize the drafts upon property-holders instead of drawing so heavily upon individuals who are charitably inclined. It is further urged that, in view of the fact that funds from the city treasury are applied to educational and hospital purposes, some should go toward the maintenance of a property and legally-organized charity institution, incorporated under the State laws. The agitation of this matter and its presentation to the county and city officials should be pursued by the in-tion, incorporated under the State laws. The agitation of this matter and its presentation to the county and city officials should be pursued by the incoming officers, to determine whether or not financial aid can be looked for from that source.*

"It is proper at this time to again refer to the great necessity of establishing some sort of a work test for able-bodied men who are finding their way to this city to live upon the earnings of others. A wood-yard, or some other means of furnishing employment for the itinerant beggar, thereby compelling him to give an equivalent in labor for what he receives in food and clothing, is not only a righteous adjustment of accounts, but would be the means of driving from our midst a large class of people whose absence from any community is a blessing. *

A vote was then taken, resulting in the appointment of a band of Willing Workers, composed of several little girls, residing at Garvanza, who have met every Friday afternoon for more than a, year and made up clothing for the integration of the association.

Chiergo Lines Trying to Meet Sax Francisco Figures.

An Associated Press dispatch from Chicago says that the Western freight agents are still struggling with the question of rates to Utah points to meet the Pacific Coast, and it may be several days yet before they are ready to take any action. They were working all day on the tariff which they propose to announce, and it is said that when they are ready to make it public it will give the Southern Pacific something to think about if it intends to keep up Utah trade, which, of course, it does. The reductions will be general from Chicago, and will include all classes of freight which the Southern Pacific handles to Utah points.

A REAL ESTATE AGENT'S TALE. STOCKTON , Nov. 15 .- The Mail publishes an interview with D. R. Oliver, a local real estate dealer, who says a railroad is to be built from Stockton to Sonora, and eventually to be extended to Salt Lake through a pass in the Sierras. A smelter will be established here as soon as the railroad is built. The construction of the road will be commenced next March. San Francisco and Denver capitalists are said to be interested in the project, among them Alvinza Hayward, the millionaire of San Francisco.

A BIG BOND ISSUE.

(San Francisco Call, November 13:) A certificate of the proceedings of the meeting of the board of directors of the Los Angeles Street Railway Company at which a bond issue of $3,000,000 was decided upon was filed with the County Clerk yesterday. The Los Angeles Street Railway Company owns or controls nearly all the street car lines of Los Angeles. The property already in the hands of the company amounts to some millions of dollars, but with the proceeds from the bond issue it is intended to extend the service in all directions. The $3,000,000 issue now ready is the first from the company. The consolidation of the lines took place last March, and since then preparations for this bond issue have been going on steadily. The bonds will be floated principally in this city and in Los Angeles. The directors of the company are: Thomas Brown, president; Lovell White, A. H. Payson, A. Borei, George Stone, M. H. Sherman and J. D. Bicknell. A BIG BOND ISSUE.

most interesting that has been made by a Secretary of the Interior for several years. There are several features which will be an innovation in this department. More interest centers around the recommendations the Secretary will make for the settlement of the Pacific rollroad debts than anything else. It is known that Mr. Smith believes in a continuous line of Pacific roads from Omaha to the Pacific roads from Omaha to the Pacific roads and that he thinks such a line can be operated to an advantage.

Some time ago the Secretary held up all patents of lands to the Pacific railways which were bond-aided, amounting to 7,000,000 acres. Whether this is an indication that he intends to make some rather radical recommendations to Congress is not known, but it is a fact that the Secretary has been securing statistics relative to the earnings of the roads, and their capacity to earn enough to pay a moderate interest upon the present indebtedness during the commendations that the Congress will undertake to legislate upon the subject of Pacific railroad indebtedness during the commendations to reserve the sayings of His Honor and Bijah, chronicled by Mr. Lewis to the Detroit Free Press. The Thursday afternoon meetings at the North Congregational Church are steadily growing in interest. The speaker was Miss Hoppock of Redlands, who has accompanied Mr. Smiley on his inspection tours as Indian Commissioner. and who could, therefore, speak with authority from bersonal knowledge. Next week the subject will be "Old New England."

Thursday evening a good audience

Thursday evening a good audience attended the first of a course of lectures to be delivered on Theosophy in the vestry of the Universalist Church by Abbott B. Clark of San Francisco. J. D. Gaylord presided and introduced the speaker. Mr. Clark said that the Theosophical Society existed for the promotion of the brotherhood of man and the furtherance of enlightenment on scientific, religious and philosophical subjects. Its only creed is the search for truth, and its ritual, to honor every truth by use. Its motto is, "There is no Religion Higher Than Truth."

Apropos of street-car facilities for attendance upon entertainments at the Pasadena operahouse, it is suggested that an effort should be made by the management of the operahouse to arrange with the electric company to run from Los Angeles a regular theater car, fitted up especially for the purpose, and upon which tickets should be sold car, fitted up especially for the purpose, and upon which tickets should be sold to theatrical entertainments in Pasadena, the price of admission including also the car fare. It is thought that under such circumstances the people of East Los Angeles would attend performances at our operahouse in large numbers, especially as the entertainments are usually given at popular prices. Pasadena has an elegant operahouse, well appointed, and with good acoustic properties, and there is no reason why the people should be obliged to depend so largely upon Los Angeles for amusement. The increased patronage would enable the management to keep the house open every night and matince afternoon during the season. The people would vastly prefer attending entertainments in the Pasadena operahouse, and the same companies that appear at the first-class houses in Los Angeles could be booked here if they were sure of patronage.

In the Recorder's Court.

Thanksgiving time is approaching and that fact may have had some in fluence on Juan Reyes, and the sight of the golden-yellow pumpkins, ripened and ready for the gathering, in the field of C. W. Rhodes proved too much for his honesty. Had he taken but his honesty. Had he taken but one pumpkin, or, perhaps, even two, Mr. Rhodes would not have objected, but when he drove a wagon, equipped with a rack, into the field and took as many when he drove a wagon, equipped with a rack, into the field and took as many of the pumpkins as he could pile upon it. Mr. Rhodes objected to that proceeding most vigorously. His objection took the form of a complaint, which was embodied in a warrant issued by Recorder Rossiter, charging Juan with making a felonious raid upon his property and appropriating the same to his own uses. Charles Fuchsia, Tom McGowan Henry, Charles and George Gieswein were also before the Recorder and were found guilty of malicious mischief, in damage done at the Lincoln-avenue school building. Sentence was deferred until the amount of the damages could be fully ascertained. Three kegs of nails were scattered broadcast, and these the lads will be obliged to pay for, as well as the court costs, which are $4.50 in each case. The fathers of the boys have rectified the damage done to the pipes, so far as known, and what they could not do themselves they have caused to be done at their expense.

Where Rev. Florence Kollock Is.

Kollock has been appointed is the Universalist, and not the Unitarian, as was first stated. It was at one time one of the largest Universalist churches in Boston, but in the march of improvement the neighborhood in which it is situated was left behind, and it gradually became a region inhabited by poor people. The church was then made in-stitutional; that is, it was conducted on some such plan as is Toynbee Hall, in London, and Hull House in Chicago. It is the instrument of vast good among the poor, educating them into the beauty of righteousness, teaching them those things which make Christianity a practical force in civilization. Miss Kollock has full scope there for heabilities for educational and reform work, and this is the larger work which

At the Shakespeare Club this aftermoon two interesting papers were pre-sented to the large body of ladies preslively discussion of the salient points of each. Mrs. Coleman's paper on "The Characteristics of Louis XVI" was an original and thoughtful esti-mate of the unhappy monarch and the age in which he lived. The condition o was an original and thoughtful estimate of the unhappy monarch and the age in which he lived. The condition of the French people was set forth by the speaker, who showed that their poverty and misery made a revolution not only necessary but inevitable.

The weakness of Louis in combating the influences surrounding him were excused by his youth at the time he ascended the throne, and his environment. He was shown to be personally brave and kindly, and his unhappy fate was deplored. The character of Marie Antoinette was touched upon and hastily outlined. The discussion which followed showed that the ladies of the club have read widely upon the subject of French history, and know how to apply its lesson to present conditions. Mrs. Coleman's paper was a treat, in that it showed ripened thought, mature judgment, and that high standard of historical criticism that is only possible to the broad thinker.

Dr. Kate Black's paper was of an entirely different character, but it roused not only the interest of the club, but, being on a subject of vital importance to this community, it is hoped that it will arouse interest in Pasadena to the pitch of some active effort to remedy a crying evil here and in other Southern California towns. After detailing the alarming increase of tubercular disease in the East, arising largely from infection and the consumption of food containing tubercular germs, Dr. Black gave statistics of the number of tubercular cows in this State. She also outlined a plan by which there could be an inspection or the dairy cows and the cows whose milk is used by the community, how contagion could be avoided, and urged it upon those present to use their influence to prevent the spread of the disease here, not only in order to protect our communities, but to give those who come here from the East a better chance to recover.

It was decided to put the practical suggestions of the paper in the form of a petition. The ladles present all agreed to sign it as a starter, and then the community in general were to b

Rev. Hubert C. Wood of Colorado Springs spoke on the home missionary work in Southern California, and resolutions were adopted to employ a corresponding secretary and a treasurer for the organization.

A paper on "The Home Class Department" was read by Miss Effle Griffith of Rushville, Ill., and the report of the Sunday-school work was read. Mr. Ward, Sunday-school missionary for California, made a brief address, and other mission workers were heard.

Attention is called to the fact that there is to be a general convention of the Baptist societies in the White Temple at Portland, Or., in May, 1896, at which Dr. Harper of the Chicago University is to be present. This meeting will be of the greatest interest and importance to the educational department especially of the Baptist work in California, and it is possible that John D. Rockefeller will be present. His agent will doubtless be there. At least two thousand delegates are expected.

His wife in great alarm notified the police, and, as it was evident that Peterson was mentally unbalanced, a search was immediately instituted. Fearing that Mr. Peterson might have it on his mind to spoil the 21,000,000 gallons of water in the Villastreet reservoir by drowning himself therein, a watch was kept there all night, and early this morning the officers were of the opinion that the reservoir should be dragged, as the most persevering search for the man on dry land had failed to reveal his presence. This was about to be done when Peterson came back, saying that he had merely gone away to look for work. The man is slightly demented, but his mania is not considered of a serious nature.

NATIONAL BONDS, The annual report of the Register of the Treasury, r for the last ten years. The re-t shows, also, that there was a ater number of bonds canceled, suring the last fiscal year, as stated the report, there were issued 80,362 dis, representing $195,445,950, and re were cancelled 43,072 bonds, with value of $108,165,200, making the to-amount of issued and cancelled dis $303,611,150.

a value of $108,185,290, making the total amount of issued and cancelled bonds $303,611,150.

The total amount of unissued bonds on hand at the close of last year was $33,661,600 more than at the close of 1823. There matured during the year the first of the various issues of bonds in aid of the construction of the Pacific railways. The amount was $2,862,000. Other installments of over $62,000,000 will mature at different dates between now and January 1, 1899.

There are at the present time $660,-120,862 of United States interest-bearing bonds outstanding, of which $4,373,-630 are held in foreign countries, $224,-214,300 by the United States Treasury in trust for national banks, and $421,-532,912 by domestic owners.

These figures possess one very interesting feature, and this is that only the very small portion of a little over four millions is held in foreign countries. A vulgar opinion prevails that the United States is largely a debtor nation to other nations on its bonds. The figures of the Register are reassuring on this head. They point a further moral, which is that the people of this country believe in and have confidence in the resources of their country. The proof is that they themselves own over $431,000,000 of the nation's bonds.

COMMERCIAL. OPEN GAME SEASON. Today, under the State law, is the opening day for the following kinds of game in Callornia: Quali, duck and dove. There were some small arrivals of each of the three kinds in the markets today. Before tomorrow it is expected the quantity will be largely increased. The qualicomprise both the mountain and valley varieties. They were firm and tat, in good condition every way. In duck there was a large assortment, comprising teal, sprigs, widgeon, redheads, mallards. sponobills, butterballs and gadwells. Some canvasback are looked for tomorrow, none having arrived today. All varieties on sale were in nice condition. There were two kinds of teal, the blue-wing and cinnamon: The latter is considered by gourmets to be the more delicious of the two.

Quali are quoted at 1.50 a dozen, which is remarkably low for first arrivals. OPEN GAME SEASON. Today, un-

Quail are quoted at 1.50 a dozen, which is remarkably low for first arrivals, Duck run from 25 cents each for teal to 31 for canvasback. At least, that is what the price of the latter will be when there are some on sale. Considering the price canvasback fetch in the New York markets it looks like giving them away for nothing to sell them here at 31 apiece. In New York they are never worth less than $5 a brace, and when scarce easily sell as high as $10 a brace. By far the greater pert of the quail and duck sold here come from the swampy lands near Bakersfield. If trains are on time the market will be supplied with all these kinds of game tomorrow.

DRIED FRUITS. The demand in all lines is good with ample supply. Prices, as a consequence, continue easy. Eastern buyers are taking in prunes in fairly large quantities, while at the same time an increased consumption is noted. Telegraph advices from Chicago quote 4 cents for Southern California prunes, 90's to 100's. This is a good price, as compared with 4½ cents for Santa Claras. Choice apricots are quoted on the Chicago market at 10 cents, and peaches, choice stock, were in fair demand on the New York market at 6 cents a pound.

WALNUTS. There is a good trade in California walnuts in the Eastern markets, and supplies from here are reaching there with better regularity. Hard-shells, first grade, are selling at 10 cents; second grade at 9 cents. Softshells, first grade, are quoted at 11 to 12 cents; second grade, at 10 cents a pound.

LEMONS. The demand for lemons in the East this year is only equalled by the scarcity of the fruit. A short dispatch from Washington in this morning's Times stated that United States Consul Seymour, at Palermo, reported shipments from that city to the United States of over 40,000 boxes of lemons during last September. For the same month last year the shipments were only 9000 boxes. The Italian lemongrowers are making fortunes this year from their sales in the United States. Notwithstanding these heavy shipments in September, and some pretty big arrivals since, the Eastern markets are bare of lemons, so bare, in fact, that sales have been reported as high as $10 a box for choice lots.

CALIFORNIA WINES. It is satisfactory to note a stronger market in California red wines. The Pacific Wine and Spirit Review in its last issue says: "The market is undergoing a rapid transformation, and prices are hardening in a way to make glad the heart of the producer. For the first time in many years there has been a scramble in certain districts for new wines, and usually the demand was in excess of the supply. This is a remarkable change from the conditions of two years ago, and an important feature of the situation is that there is no doubt as to the permanency of the new order of things, that is, there should be no backsilding before the production has again been largely increased. Therefore, the industry should increase in prosperity during the next seven or eight years. For all of which let us be duly thankful. Shipments by sea during the past fortnight have been very large, aggregating over 400,000 gallons. Of this quantity, New York gets the greater part, but China and Japan show up with over 27,000 gallons. The general outlook for trade is improving, and the wine man has much to be thankful for." CALIFORNIA WINES. It is satis-

SUGAR IN JAPAN. The Japanese have become conscious of another fact, and which is that they like American refined sugar better than they like their own brown. The Chief of the Agricultural Bureau in the Department of Agriculture and Commerce of Japan recently delivered an interesting lecture on that subject, in the course of which, as reported in the London Grocer, he drew attention to the fact that the demand for sugar by the people of Japan has very greatly increased. In 1872 the amount imported was 56,000,000 pounds, valued at $1,750,000. Ten years later the amount was 107,000,000 pounds, as against only $2,000,000 pounds, as a against only $2,000,000 pounds, as a against only $2,000,000 pounds and in 1892 it was $4\frac{1}{2}$ pounds, all the sugar it could make, it could easily supply Japan with $6\frac{1}{2}$ lit he sugar that country could use. Bradstreet's Financial Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Bradstreet's financial review tomorrow will say that the signs of improvement which appeared at the close of last week have borne fruit. A moderate advance in prices set in on Monday and the following days, and a decidedly better feeling asserted itself in speculative circles. The export of $1,000,000 on Tuesday seems to have been previously discounted, but the heavy shipments of the metal, amounting to $2,250,000 by today's steamers, tended to check the progress of the bullish movement. The latter was, indeed, almost professional, the buying coming from the short interest, or from large traders who sold out before the decline attained headway and were thus in a position to take back their stocks. The calmer tone of the foreign markets, the subsidence of the war scare, and the absence of a panic in the Kaffir settlement at London, were factors in causing a more healthy tone to assert itself here. Europe, indeed, repurchased some stocks, particularly St. Paul and Louisville, but these transactions represented a change of position by the bears and in no way indicate that the indifference with which London regards "Yankee rails" has been changed. Another circumstances which created apprehension at the end of last week was also adjusted. This was the continued liquidation in local securities at Philadelphia, some of which experienced sudden declines, as phenomenal in their extent as the previous advances. It is understood that New York capitalists extended substantial aid to some of the speculative interests in the Philadelphia market, and a raily then ensued, which had an influence in the tone of the market. Bradstreet's Financial Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, which issues tomorrow, will say that the scare about gold exports had no real significance, and, although $2,225,000 more will go out today, the stock market has been recovering. There was and is a substantial cause of difficulty in the fact that exports of products have been too small to meet the greatly-increased imports of merchandise. The collapse of Kaffir spegulations abroad has forced many to realize on Americans held, and the impression that the government may be forced to borrow again also presented to our disadvantage. But there Dun's Weekly Review.

If Southern California was making all the impression that the government the sugar it could make, it could easily supply Japan with will the sugar that country could use.

NEW INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were yesterday filed by the People's Oil Company of Los six weeks more would make the half year's output 5,250,000 tons more, about 450,000 tons greater than in any other half year. The startling fact is that the demand for products of aron and steel falls off, notwithstanding the increase in the output of pig, and, though only a few concerns have closed or reduced work or wages on account of lack of orders, prices are sinking, having declined 2.7 per cent. for the week, and 8.4 per cent. from the highest point. Bessemer pig, billets, gray forge, bar, tanksteel plates, structural angles and wire nalls have all sold lower within the past week, though quotations are kept up as far as possible by associations. Minor metals are, on the whole, lower, though tin has stiffened a little, but lake copper sold at 11½ cents, and is weak. Lead is decidedly weak on account of foreign consumrtion, and is quoted at 3.17½.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK. Nov. 15.—The stock market was unfavorably affected by a variety of influences, none of which were unexpected, and whose effect might therefore have been regarded as discounted. The exception was a revival of sales of our securities for foreign account. This last development had not been generally figured upon, as the street hoped for support in this market from abroad, owing to the alleged more favorable turn in the foreign financial situation. The engagement of gold for export by tomorrow's steamer could not be considered in the light of a surprise, as all indications recently have pointed to a resumption of the outward movement. It has also been believed that severe treatment of the Reading junior securities in the impending reorganization is a foregone conclusion. Bear arguments against sugar were based upon expected reductions in the prices of foreign and domestic grades, owing to the arrival of the normal dull season in the industry. The market opened quiet, and at slight declines, but a moderate rally soon ensued, which, for a time, proved superior to the announcement of the engagement of $2.250,000 in gold for export, including the house usually most conspicuous in gold movements. The effect of the news, however, was noted in a decreased volume of trading. Eventually ilquidations started here and there in the list, resulting in a large range of prices generally. There was but slight animation in the trading in railway and miscellaneous bonds. The dealings aggregated $1,919,000, the smallest total of transactions recorded for a long time past. The general market ruled firm as regards the speculative issues. Among the advances is Central Pacific sixes of '96,1½ per cent. do, '97s,1½. Alpha Con ....

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that the condition of general trade continues irregular and without material change. There is a distinct failing off in the demand for iron and steel, with perhaps the heaviest reaction in quotations in those lines reported in any week since the late boom in those metals reached its climax. Central Western cities continue to feel the unfavorable influence of unseasonably mild weather, which is true as well of cities in the Northwest. Then there is the long list of decreases in quotations for merchandise and wheat, corn, oats, pork, lard and coffee, smong feed products, cotton and print cloths and-lumber (at Bostom), as well as for various grades of iron and steek, copper, lead and weaker quotations for in plates. The converse includes an anticipated improvement in woolen goods, increased orders for manufactures and higher prices for several qualities of goods. The total exports of wheat (flour included as wheat,) from both coasts of the United States and from Montreal this week aggregate 3,225,000 bushels, the largest weekly total this year since the middle of last January. Last week the total was 2,556,000 bushels, while in the second week of November, 1892, corresponding exports amounted to 2,943,000. There were 279 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, compared with 260 last week, 280 in the week one year ago and 370 in the week two years ago, and as contrasted with only 206 in the corresponding week of 1892.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Evening Post's financial cablegram from London says that the stock markets today were irregular, closing rather dull. One more failure was announced. Several other houses were given until tomorrow to pay. A number of firms were assisted, probably very greatly, which points to rather a long process of liquidation. American securities were dull on fears of large exports of gold from New York tomorrow. Small amounts of gold are coming here from Holland.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED TRESS REPORT)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Reports of heavy gold exports tomorrow and a general feeling of duliness caused wheat to open up rather weak, December starting at 57%, against 58 at yesterday's closing. Several heavy dealers sold largely at the start, but the market seemed to absorb it all readily, and when sales quit there was some reaction. With all the talk of enormous receipts, the total deliveries so far this crop year have been only about the same as last year, and in Kansas the acreage of wheat sown is only 2,839,000 acres, against 4,840,000 acres last year. So the bulls found something to encourage them, and the bears something to increase their caution. Trade was narrow, and the business largely confined to local operators. December opened at 57%, fell to 57%, up to 57%, and at moon was 57% bid. May has ranged at 61%, 661%, and at moon was 61%. The market kept quiet and steady during the last hour. After selling at 55% for December, it eased off to 57%, closing about that figure. Corn opened at 20% and closed at 20% 20% bid. Provisions were stationary and prices scarcely moved.

The leading futures ranged as follows:
Wheat, No. 3— Closing.
November 55%, December 55%, December 55%, December 55%, December 55%, and started.

A LITTLE FUN EXPECTED.

A LITTLE FUN EXPECTED.

The directors of the Anaheim Union Water Company will meet tomorrow Saturday) in the "Mother Colony" town, and from promises made a few days ago, a right down interesting sort of a time is expected.

However, it is believed by the more considerate ones that the water directors will realize that they have lost the case in which they were engaged with the City Trustees, and that they will not become too verdant, so long as the Town Council holds such a strong winning hand. One of the directors of the company a few days ago made the assertion that the company was about to expend $14,000 for the benefit of Anaheim, but now, that the city had taken possession of the ditches over two of the principal streets, not one penny would be expended for that purpose, and the band played on.

REVERSED.

Superior Judge Towner today reversed the decision of City Recorder Matthews in the case of the People vs. Chris Miller, in which the lower court and a jury decided that Miller was guilty of selling liquor without a license, for which he was fined $75. An appeal was taken to the Superior Court with the result as above stated. This is another victory for the liquor men, and sec. 5 of the Pomona ordinance is practically knocked into smithereens.

There is no appeal from the Judge's decision of the superior the Judge's decision. There is no appeal from the Judge's decision, and the matter as far as regards sec. 5 of the ordinance is, therefore, settled.

After Judge Towner rendered his decision City Attorney West asked for a new trial, but the request was denied.

Mr. Golter had been selling liquor without a license, and he was, therefore, arrested a few days ago on that charge. He was to come over to the county seat to appear before Superior Judge Towner. He did not want an officer to accompany him, as he thought it would be a disgrace to be so accompanied, so he made an earnest entreaty to be allowed to drive ver in his own private conveyance, all by his own self. As he had previously been considered by his neighbors to be a man of his word, Deputy Constable Pendegrast assented, and the willy mixer of hot drinks sped away down the wide avenue toward Anaheim and Santa Ana.

He came south only as far as Anaheim, where he disposed of his team and boarded the train for pastures new. His present whereabouts are unknown, but the officers believe that he is now on his way to Germany.

W. T. Slater's steam yacht Eleanor, 1200 tons, on its tour of the world, begun at New York in August, was in Santa Monica waters yesterday. The boat is a floating palace, capable of plowing the foam at fourteen riles an hour, and carries a crew of sixteen men. The owner had on board some San Francisco friends, with whom he will return to that city after visiting San Diego. The trip here was made across the Atlantic, through the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal, and across to this Coast. The return will be by the Straits of Magellan.

The bark Edinburgshire, 225 days from London, dropped anchor in the stream here Thursday, captainless. Her master, Capt. Palge, died at Valparaiso, Peru, en route. The boat is freighted with miscellaneous cargo, which will be discharged at this port.

The ship Enoch Talbot limped into port here Wednesday from British Columbia, laden with $50,000 feet of lumber for the Southern Facific Company, and badly listed by the shifting of her deckload. The position of the ship in the water is decidedly not square up-and-down, but an effort is being made to right her before attempting to bring her up to the pler. No serious damage has resulted from the listing.

The grading of lower Third street is nearing completion, but much dirt is yet to move south of Railroad avenue on the hill and hollow lots. On Third on the hill and hollow lots. On Third the work is to be much more complete than contemplated by the original contract. Property-owners are extending the cement gutters on either side, and cement curbs and retaining walls, not in the plan, are being constructed. Contractor Morris is quite as much at home in cement as excavation, and he has not only taken his own holdings into the work of improvement, but has called in most of the adjoining property-owners, and it is quite probable that the street will not be abandoned urtil cement walks are added. The improvement is going to be conspicuous.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) The third trial of Charles Button for killing August Bohm has been set for December 16, and the District Attorney's office is preparing for another hard fight.

County Surveyor M. L. Cook and David Wixom left for the scene of the murder this morning for the purpose of making another survey of the ground, and if possible furnish the District Attorney's office with the means of presenting its evidence in the case in a more convincing way.

The fact that all the members of the party except the boy, Claude Henderson, were more or less under the influence of liquor, has made it a very difficult case to try, and the evidence which the prosecution could summon was not all of the positive character that might be wished.

There are still a number of questions with reference to the relative position of Bohm and Button when the fatal shot was fired, the distance between them, the direction of the shot, and all toose points which may aid the jury in forming an opinion to the merits of the case.

Messes, Cook and Wixom will be gone

Messrs Cook and Wixom will be gone until Sunday or Monday, when they will return and report to the District Attorney's office.

A NEW MINING CAMP.

A NEW MINING CAMP.

A new mining camp has been discovered and is just being opened up thirty miles northwest of Barstow. The first strike was made October 2, six weeks ago, and already one of the shafts is down twenty-two feet, and on that particular ledge it shows a width of three feet at the bottom of the shaft.

The new finds are in Fremont's Peak mining district. On October 2, H. R. Stevens and R. E. Stevens made a discovery of a prospect, and it has been followed by others, until now ten distinct ledges have been found, and some work has been done on all of them. The group has been located in the names of Y. R. Stevens, R. E. Stevens, H. R. Stevens, J. L. Roberts, J. L. Lyons, J. Merry and J. Harrington, all of whom are in this city.

The ore runs from $40 to $200 per ton on the different ledges, and in spots it is very rich, running as high in gold as $1 per pound in free-milling ore. At the bottom of the twenty-two-foot shaft, which is being put down, with three feet of ledge, the ore is averaging $200.

There is an abundance of water at a distance of four miles. It can be secured at a depth of fifteen feet, and there is a fall of 200 feet in bringing it to the mine. Some work has been done on all the ledges, and the miners are confident that a good camp will be the result.

The miners who have been at work in Holcomb Valley, in the employ of the Holcomb Valley Mining Company, are leaving the district and taking the mountain road leading in this direction. Sheriff Holcomb and Deputy J. J. Arbios returned from Holcomb Valley last night, where they had been serving the latest attachment on the property of the company. The work is shut down, the mines and mill deserted, and nothing more will be done until the attachment is released, which will probably be within a few weeks.

The cause of the difficulties of the company was the defeat of its application for a patent for the land. When the application was filed, the Southern Pacific Company set up a claim that the same was railroad land, and succeeded in having the patent refused the company. When the report of this reached, the stockholders at the home office in England, they at once became dismayed with the prospect, and refused to vote any more money for development.

It therefore followed that the company soon became involved on account of the demands for pay from the workmen, as well as the dealers who had been furnishing supplies. Three attachment suits have been filed, aggregating between $3000 and $4000, and the works have now shut down, and nothing can be done until the attachments are released.

But this may not be long delayed. The stockholders have been advised

But this may not be long delayed. The stockholders have been advised that the situation is not so desperate as they had supposed, and Superintendent Thame, who will come down from the valley next week, expects to be able to pay all claims and proceed to operate the mine.

Meanwhile the miners are straggling into the city and filing their claims with Paris & Allison, who will push them as preferred labor claims. Already over $700 of such claims have been filed with the attorneys, and the full amount will be $1200. When these are all in, Paris & Allison will go into court and attempt to sidetrack the other claims until the laborers are paid. claims until the laborers are paid.

The manual which was recently adopted by the county board contains several innovations, and it is the purpose to hold three or four meetings at points some distance from each other, for the purpose of thoroughly explaining them. While the teachers of this city are not working under the county manual, they will be welcomed at these meetings.

THE CHECK CAME BACK.

The individual who, under the name of E. M. Wormsley, tried to negotiate worthless bank checks in this city two weeks ago, and who succeeded in getting into jail by virtue of the fact that he did cash such checks at Colton, may be a criminal of more than ordinary shrewdness. He has done time in the county jails of Los Angeles and Alameda counties for offenses similar to the one which caused his undoing, and his attempt at the San Bernardino National Bank indicates that he is capable of operating on a larger scale.

But the check for a large amount, which he deposited at that bank for collection, has just been returned from the East with a characteristic indorsement on the back to the effect that E. M. Wormsley carried no account at that bank. His purpose, of course, was to seek to establish a credit at the San Bernardino National, by depositing the check, which was drawn for a large amount.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. Man Who Passes Forged Cheeks.

News Notes.
SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) On Thursday Deputy Sheriff Peter Storni went on a search for James Barry, who was wanted in Santa Barbara for passing forged checks on two local stores. His trip met with success, and today (Friday.) Barry arrived on the morning train from Ventura, where he was taken into custody. The arrested man says that his name is not Barry, but McDonald, and that he is unaware of the cause of his incarceration. When asked what his name was and how he spelled it, he showed considerable confusion, and for a time did not know whether he spelled it McDonald, says that he is a laboring man, and works the greater part of the time on railroad work. Frank Morgan has identified Barry as the man who presented the forged check to him. It is believed that there was another besides McQuade and Barry. The officer is still away on a hunt for him. The Willards, who were sent up from Los Angeles for safe keeping, in the jail here, are taking matters easy. They still insist that they are innocent. To while away the time they brought with them two trunks filled with musical instruments, and the other prisoners are regaled with dulcet strains from the hands of the "Beauty Wonder" outfit.

Larceny Case—The Case of the Cummings Brothers Will Go to the Supreme Court.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 15 .- (Regular Corespondence.) The Hotel Association of outhern California concluded its bus-ness yesterday evening, and this morning, after taking a short drive down the valley, most of the visitors left for Redlands. Among the matters of bus-iness transacted yesterday afternoon was the adoption of uniform rates by the hotels throughout Southern California, and the Secretary was in-structed to have a card of rates printed and distributed. An amendment to the constitution making proprietors of res

The subscription to the Hotel-Men's Mutual Benefit Association of the United States, which meets in Los Angeles in April, was increased to $3800, and it is thought the amount will be added to until it reaches $5000.

In the evening the hotel people attended "A Fool for Luck" at the Loring Operahouse, in a body, and between the first and second acts of the play the audience was treated to something not down on the printed programme. G. W. Lynch of the Florence Hotel, San Diego, appeared upon the stage and in a few words related that Mrs. F. A. Miller of Glenwood had the honor of first suggesting the foundation of this association, which was of such great benefit to hotel-men in Southern California, and at the close of his remarks presented that lady with a beautiful gold and silver berry set.

Following Mr. Lynch came Mr. Pratt of Seven Oaks, upon the stage, and in a neat speech presented Mr. Lynch with a gold chain and charm in token of his excellent services as President of the association for the past year.

THE LANGWORTHY CASE. Justice Mills this morning gave in his decision in the case of S. R. Langdecision in the case of S. R. Langworthy, held on a charge of grand larceny in removing a house from a lot claimed by J. S. Castleman, binding the defendant over to the Superior Court. Mr. Langworthy's attorney immediately commenced habeas corpus proceedings before the Superior Court to have Langworthy discharged from the custody of the officer, on the ground that grand larceny could not have been committed by the defendant, as it was shown by the evidence in the case that he was a part owner in the lot, and, with the notes held by him, given by the purchaser of the lot, he bought lumber of the lumber company and built the house. The habeas corpus proceedings are being argued before the court as this report closes.

fastest bicycle racers work out. There was but one fall, and that was from carelessness.

Yesterday scores of wheelmen and others went down to the track to see Charlie Murphy sprint, as they had heard of his fast quarter of Thursday, when he rode in 0:28 on the rebuilt track. Murphy, who is the only man in the Humber team, wants to be paced by a railroad locomotive, and the Southern Pacific has agreed to build a three-mile strip of cement surface for him to try his long-desired mile behind the fastest pacemaker on carth. Murphy showed up well yesterday, but saved his speed for next week's races.

There was one fall yesterday, and Kiser was the unfortunate. He was trailing McCrea, and rubbed his wheel just enough to get thrown. The usual bruises were the result.

Of the new men, it is hard to tell which is the fastest, J. M. Campbell of the Spokane Amateur Athletic Clubshows wonderful speed, but so does Randall and Shefski, his team-mates.

Campbell is a Detroit boy like Cooper, but he has been in Spokane for some time and claims that place as his home. His work in Washington and Oregon has shown him to be the crackajack of that part of the Coast.

F. E. Shefski of the Zion Wheel Club of Salt Lake City is a German of 21 years. He has been a bicycle rider but a year, but from the start proved to be Freeman of the Bay City Wheelmen, San Francisco, and Downing of the Garden City Cyclers. San Jose, arrived yesterday afternoon and put in two hours at the track. Freeman is from Haywards, where the road races are run, and both are class A men, who somehow got a permit to ride down here.

A Kansas Man's Persevering Effort to Collect a Bill. A collection agent at Topeka, Kan.,

is wasting a whole lot of postage in an endeavor to collect $5 from a poor widow, supposed to be at the present time somewhere in Southern California. It appears that the woman was some months ago persuaded by a canvas for some Topeka concern to subscribe for an album on the installment plan. She signed a contract obligating her-self to pay $5 at a certain time. When the money was due the widow was musing so the second was missing, so the account was turned over to a professional collector. This individual, with the perseverance characteristic of his kind, set about to learn the widow's whereabouts in order to present his bill. After tracing her to several towns in Nebraska, he found that she had removed to Santa Ana, Cal.

In due course of time Chief Glass received the account, with the Santa Ana constable's letter inclosed. Va., nas knowledge of the remarkable cure of Mrs. Martha Gilkison, the wife of a carpenter of the east end of the city, who, on the 22d of September, 1895, related her experience as follows: "For a good many years I have been bothered an awful sight with my stomach. I got so I I have been bothered an awful sight with my stomach. I got so I couldn't eat anything at all without souring on my stomach. Lots of times while working I would spit up great mouthfuls of stuff bitter as gall. I kept getting worse all the time, and took piles of doctor medicine, but I might as well took that much starch for all the good it done me. It run into neuralgia of the stomach and worked itself all over me. Dr. Gardener, the new doctor up on 20th street, told me when I saw him it was my stomach that caused all the trouble and give me an order to the drugstore. I took it there, and the boy give me a box of Ripans Tabules. I began getting better, and have used a little over two boxes, and am now sound and well. (Signed.) MARTHA GIL-KISON, No. 1820 Fourth avenue, Huntington, W. Va."
